Re: Preserving the Open Internet, GN Docket No. 09-191

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On December 1, 2010, John Schanz, Kevin McElearney and the undersigned of Comcast Corporation met with Brad Gillen, legal advisor, Krista Witanowski, legal advisor and Rafi Martina, fellow, all of Commissioner Meredith Baker's office. On December 1, 2010, the same representatives from Comcast, as well as Kathryn Zachem from Comcast, met with: Sharon Gillett, Chief, Wireline Competition Bureau; William Lake, Chief, Media Bureau; John Flynn, senior counsel; Rick Kaplan, chief counsel and senior legal advisor to Chairman Genachowski; Zac Katz, legal advisor to Chairman Genachowski; Paul de Sa, chief, Office of Strategic Planning and Policy Analysis; and Jonathan Baker, chief economist. The purpose of both meetings was to discuss and answer any questions concerning the ex parte letters filed by Comcast and Level 3 in the above-referenced proceeding.¹ We also discussed the fact that as an access and backbone network with a broad mix of both residential and commercial customers, Comcast's inward and outward network traffic with its peers is roughly balanced, contrary to suggestions in some coverage of this issue.²

Please let me know if you have further questions.

Sincerely,

/s/ Lynn R. Charytan

Vice President, Legal Regulatory Affairs
